ESCAPED COUNTY PRISONER IS ARRESTED AT ST. LOUIS

Sheriff Enroute To Middle West To Return One Of Three Men Who Flew Jail In September Two Years Ago; Faye Arrested By Missouri Police On Placerville Information

Bob Faye, jailed at St. Louis as an escaped county jail prisoner, was indicted by the county Grand Jury in two indictments returned on the secret file in December of 1936, District Attorney Henry S. Lyon revealed Monday noon. One indictment charges one count of burglary and one count of grand theft. The second indictment charges jailbreaking. Although Faye was reported to have waived extradition, Mr. Lyon said the county is "taking no chances in the matter" and he will go to Sacramento this afternoon to request extradition from the Governor.

Bob Faye, one of three men who fled the El Dorado County jail on September 29, 1936, was taken into custody Saturday at St. Louis and Sheriff George M. Smith left Sunday for the Missouri city to return the prisoner, who has agreed to waive extradition.

Faye, known also as George Hansen, is reported to have been living in St. Louis under the alias of Bob O'Neil. He was arrested by St. Louis on information gathered and supplied by Sheriff Smith.

James A. Irving left Monday for Greagle, Plumas County, to join the board of directors of the California Fruit Exchange for their annual meeting at their saw mill and box factory.

Mrs. Irene Larson, school nurse, left Monday for Berkeley to attend summer sessions at the University.

Dean Robinson was at Sutter Hospital Monday under the care of Dr. D. W. Babcock. Mr. Robinson has not been well for some time and an effort is to be made to learn the nature of his trouble.

Supervisor Cyril Heusner was in town Monday from Shingle.

Howard Chaix and Ed Jones were the operators of cars which came together Saturday night at the intersection of Locust and Union Streets. Both cars were damaged.

We learn of the recent marriage at the Presbyterian Church at Vallejo of Miss Kelma Killian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Killian, of Placerville, and Carl Brown, of Vallejo. The bride is a graduate of the county high school and has been employed at Sacramento. The couple will make their home at Vallejo. We join their other friends in good wishes.

Miss Ruth Henson leaves today to join Mrs. Emma Updegraff, and Miss Grace Updegraff, in a visit at St. Louis and at Chicago. While away for a period of about a month Miss Henson will be the guest of Mrs. Updegraff, Miss Updegraff and their relatives.

Malcolm Tinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tinney, is home from St. Louis University, where he is studying medicine, to spend about a month.

Placerville is not "too far" from Boston. We learned today that an air mail letter mailed by a Placerville lady to a friend in Boston during Air Mail week, was postmarked at 3 p. m. May 19 in Placerville and delivered at 8 a. m. May 21, at Boston. Zip!

The fire alarm during the noon hour Monday called firemen to the home of Mrs. Florence Dames, on Coleman St. A chimney burned out. No damage.

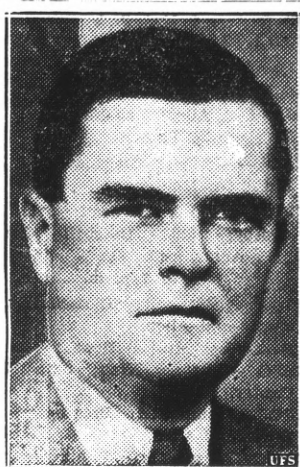

Diligent inquiry at the morgues, and persistent search by the highway patrol fails to reveal any trace of the car that "went over the grade at Bridal Veil Falls Sunday," of which everybody seems to have heard.

LIONS WILL INSTALL AT DINNER MEETING ON TUESDAY NIGHT

The regular luncheon meeting of Placerville Lions on Tuesday has been canceled and the club will meet at dinner at Hotel Raffles Tuesday evening to install officers for the ensuing year. It will be a ladies' night.

Lion H. E. Dillinger will succeed Lion President Bill Hays.

The entertainment program for the meeting will be short and the club had made arrangements for a theater party after the meeting at the Empire theater to see the feature picture, "The Adventures of Robin Hood".

ASSURED—Frank M. Dixon, assured of being the next Governor of Alabama. He was the winning candidate in the recent primary and, with withdrawal by the runner-up, has no contests. His home is in Selma.

MID-WEST DESPERADO KILLED, PAL CAUGHT

Duo Who Shot Highway Officer In Indiana, Nabbed By Police In Illinois Early Monday

DESELME, Ill., (UP)—Two deputy sheriffs today shot and killed one of two bandit-brothers responsible for a brief reign of terror in Indiana and wounding the other in the shoulder. The slain desperado was identified as Clarence Easton, 27, of Valley City, N. D.

His brother, Orelle, 25, was shot in the right shoulder and was taken to the county jail at Kanakake, about seven miles southeast of here.

They were trapped in a cornfield when their car became mired after they perhaps mortally wounded Indiana state policeman Ray Dixon, 28, near LaPorte, Ind., last night.

They kidnaped three men and a four year old boy in their flight across two states.

Two hours before they were shot in a fierce gun battle, the desperados had kidnaped James Novy, a farmer, and his four-year-old son and held them as hostages while they attempted to pierce a police blockade.

YOUNG WOMEN'S GROUP MAY FORM CHAPTER OF SORORITY

A group of young women interested in forming a chapter in Placerville of Tau Phi Lambda sorority, will meet Thursday afternoon of this week at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Jessie Bathurst to continue discussions recently begun at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Arthur Taylor, which had among those present Mrs. Bertha Saunders, special deputy of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle and sponsor of the new local organization which is open to girls who have passed their sixteenth birthday.

Those who attended the preliminary meeting at Mrs. Taylor's residence include Madelyn Bathurst, Constance Taylor, Alice Zueger, Noreen Bonillo, Peggy Cooper, Marilyn Rupley, Evelyn Wiglesworth, Marian Gilson, Jeanette Landis, Pauline Snyder and Mrs. E. W. Zueger and, from Sacramento, Mary Ellen Krause and Claire Saunders.

EAGLES, AUXILIARY TO INSTALL OFFICERS TONIGHT

Placerville Aerie No. 889, F. O. E., and their auxiliary will meet jointly tonight to install their recently elected officers.

The new president of the auxiliary is Mrs. Souella Shepard and the new worthy president of the aerie is Roscoe Larkin. Mr. Larkin, whose election to the presidency follows a long period of service in subordinate offices, has announced his intention to resign as Worthy President, owing to removal from the city. Mr. and Mrs. Larkin are to move to Santa Cruz.

The installation will be followed by entertainment, refreshments and a social time.

W. J. Kervin, linotype operator for The Mountain Democrat, left Sunday for Los Angeles in response to word announcing the passing of his father, following a period of several years of failing health. The elder Mr. Kervin lived for many years at Nevada City where he is well and favorably known.

6 DARE RAPIIDS OF COLORADO

Two Women, Four Men Drift Toward Cataract Canyon On Boat Trip To Mead Lake

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., (UP)—The two women and four men who are daring the turbulent Colorado River rapids through the Grand Canyon were believed today to be drifting toward Cataract Canyon, beyond which there is no escape until they reach Lees Ferry. There is no complete record of those who have lost their lives on similar ventures.

The six, riding in two sturdy flat-bottomed boats are: Miss Elzada Clover, 40, University of Michigan botanist; her assistant, Miss Lois Jotter, 25; Eugene Atkinson, University of Michigan zoologist; Norman D. Nevill, veteran Utah riverman; W. C. Gibson, San Francisco artist-photographer and Don Harris, U. S. Geological survey scientist.

The party started from Green River, Utah, a week ago and presumably passed the confluence of the Green River and Colorado River yesterday. They must pass more than 300 rapids before they reach the placid waters of Lake Mead, behind Boulder Dam.

County Farm Tour June 30

Farm Bureau, Soil Service And Extension Service Unite In Special Event Thursday

The Agricultural Extension Service and the Soil Conservation Service will co-operate with the county Farm Bureau Thursday in a tour of ranches of the Gold Hill and Camino districts to inspect cover cropping and irrigation and fertilizing practices.

According to a schedule announced by the Farm Advisor's office, the tour will open at 9 o'clock at the L. W. Veerkamp ranch at Gold Hill, continuing from there to the Herman Thiele ranch, nearby, at 9:45, then visiting the Ed. Odlin ranch on Coloma road at 10:30 o'clock and the Wilkinson Brothers ranch at 11:15.

The party will continue to Placerville for lunch and in the afternoon will visit the Bongetta ranch at Smith Flat at 1:15, the H. E. Gatlin ranch at Fruit Ridge at 2 o'clock; the J. A. Irving ranch at 2:45 and the last point of call will be the George H. Volz ranch at White Rock Canyon, at 3:30 o'clock.

All fruit growers are especially urged to attend and anyone else interested may join the tour.

LOOMIS HURLER SCORES 2 WINS; PITCHES 16 INNINGS

Charlie Perry pitched the Loomis Reds to a double victory over the Grass Valley Braves to send his team into a second place tie with Auburn and Colfax. Perry pitched sixteen innings of baseball.

At Roseville the Auburn Cubs scored four runs in the 9th inning to upset the Wolf and Royer team which held a 5 to 2 lead over the champions at the end of the eighth inning.

High School twirler, pitching his first game of the season for Colfax the Lions defeated Placerville for the second time this season. The final score was 9 to 6 in favor of Colfax. A feature of the game was the execution of a triple play by the Bartletts. With runners on first and third, Barnwell hit a line drive to Patterson who threw out a runner going into third and as Gus Merrill started down to second he was thrown out to Neil the shortstop. However one run was scored on the play as Tregellas came home after Patterson's catch.

Times Are Better, Even Mice Have Money

MALTA, O., (UP)—Gus Love reported (and three neighbors confirmed) that he found three $5 bills lining the nest of a pair of field mice in his garage. One bill, Love said, had only a corner bitten off. The other two were torn into several pieces but could be redeemed by the U. S. Treasury. Love didn't know where the mice got the bills in these hard times.

TO WED—Shahpur Mohammed Riza Pahlavi, 19, Crown Prince of Iran, whose engagement to Princess Fawzia, 17, sister of King Farouk of Egypt, was recently announced in Alexandria. According to strictest Moslem tradition the Prince and Princess have not yet met. The betrothal was arranged for them through official circles in both governments. The crown prince is expected to visit Egypt in October, when final wedding arrangements probably will be concluded. Wedding will ally two oldest civilized dynasties in the world.

23 Scouts Off To Camp

Total Of 42 Boys From County Will Be Enrolled During Summer At Audrain

The Golden Empire Council of Boy Scouts opened their summer camp at Lake Audrain Monday and twenty-three El Dorado County boys left shortly after one o'clock in the afternoon to join approximately seventy Scouts from other sections of the Council, who went up Monday morning from Sacramento.

The camp will operate on a succession of ten-day periods this year.

The El Dorado County delegation went to the camp under the supervision of Council Executive Hazen Showers, with Harry S. Brown in charge of the group. They made the journey to the camp in a truck supplied by the Russell J. Wilson agency, which will return them to Placerville at the expiration of their camping period.

A total of 42 Boy Scouts from the county will attend the camp this year, twenty-three at the first period and the balance at subsequent periods. Of the 42, there are 16 from Troop 67; 9 from Diamond Springs and 8 from Camino.

One of the most dynamic figures at the recent convention of the American Medical Association was Dr. Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the Association and author of several books. He is a big fellow with a bald head, a friendly smile and a lot of "savvy." While he talks he reminds you of Floyd Gibbons and his speedy speech.

We heard the doctor give his famous lecture on Food Fads and Follies and we report a few of the high lights.

Since Americans consume seven-teen and one-half billion dollars worth of food a year, it is an important item. Dr. Fishbein carries no brief for vegetarians, the other day one of his friends ordered a filet steak at a restaurant. He was eating with gusto when a man sat down opposite to him and in the soprano voice of the vegetarian ordered a combination salad. "I do not believe in cruelty to the lower animals," said the man beginning on his salad. "Alright brother," said the steak eater, "maybe you'll feel like hell when I tell you that you're about to chew up a caterpillar that's in the lettuce."

When Steffanson spent a winter with the Eskimos he lived exclusively on a meat diet. The Eskimos, however, eat all of the animal, liver, marrow, intestines and in that way they get balance. Steffanson returned in excellent health.

Dr. Fishbein recalled some old fads. Do you remember when people were solemnly clamping their jaws 32 chews to the mouthful? That was Fletcherizing. Do you remember Sylvester Graham who promoted the whole grain theory? And Percy Lemon Clark his followed who advocated his food fads with little gems of poetry:

"The whiter the bread,
"The sooner you're dead."
And:
"The more sugar you soak
"The sooner you croak."

Came the calorie. Just a measure of heat. A lumberman consumes 9,000 a day, a business man 3,000 to 4,000. The lady of the house who gets up at 9:30 a. m., does a little dusting and shopping in the daytime and bridge playing in the evening uses 1,000 but she usually takes in 7,000. That's why she gets big where she would rather stay little.

With the coming of the elevator, the automobile, ditch-digging machines and all labor saving devices, we began to consume less food. This is a fact we don't often think about but it has a bearing on production and consumption.

The doctor figuratively rolled up his sleeves and pitched into reducing diets with a whoop and a bang. There is just one text for his tirade and not too elegant at that. "Pigs would live longer if they didn't make hogs of themselves." Floor rolling was not endorsed by the Medical Association while it was in high repute with the American Plasterer's Union. Then Lulu Hunt Peters wrote a book on counting calories. She was svelte herself when she began her travel lectures, but the many luncheons, teas and dinners that she attended, sad to say, didn't keep her that way.

"There's just one exercise for you, Lulu," Dr. Fishbein said to her, that is, to keep turning your head the other way every time that food is passed."

As for the 18 day Hollywood diet, a Chicago butcher ate it all for breakfast one morning with no bad results. If you can stand the monotony of banana and skim milk diet, go to it. The latest in diet fads is the milk farm, which will successfully get you weak in a week.

The Hay diet is not reducing but something should be said about it. Wm. Howard Hay claims that all sickness is the result of dangerous food combinations as oysters and ice cream, cardines and angel cake. But how do food combinations come about anyway? What scientific basis is there for eating cheese with pie (In Wisconsin it is a state law). Why len on with fish? In order to digest food in the right combinations, Mr. Hay would have you eat your potatoes at six o'clock and come back for your steak at nine. His cook book is full of cute names for his favorite food combinations as "Fountain of Youth salad," "Easter Bunny Salad" (a fancy arrangement of lettuce and carrots which is rabbit's food no matter what you call it).

During prohibition the grape growers were hard put to find a market for their products so some wise bird started the iron in raisins fad and we used to see men and women walking down the street eating raisins out of a little red box. Eat your raisins, was the slogan, and you are full of iron. They forgot to mention the stems and seeds. You might have gotten the same amount of iron if you sucked on a rusty nail.

In 1910 we all went alphabetical with the vitamins. Leafy green vegetable was high in vitamin value, so spinach was born.

"Eat your spinach, darling," says the fond mother, "and grow big and strong like papa." But papa never ate it when he was a baby. He didn't get the vitamins but neither did he get the sand in his system.

And finally, the doctor loves to tell the story of one Isaac Pinkham, who was in the real estate business when a depression came along. A man owed him twenty-five dollars but couldn't pay. "I'll give you a recipe for a tonic," the man offered. Isaac took a chance and his wife Lydia brewed up a batch. It was 30 per cent alcohol with a few weeds and plants thrown in. One tablespoon after meals and somehow the world seemed better. There was no high power advertising in those days so Isaac's sons wrote a lot of notes and dropped them in Central Park where the curious could pick them up and read how Mary wrote to Susie about a marvelous medicine that made a new woman out of her. That is how Lydia's best seller got its start.

An Economic Royalist's "End"

To the New York Herald Tribune:

I was impressed by this letter in the "Boston Transcript" and think that others would be:

S. S. HUBBELL.
Plymouth, Mass., June 6, 1932.
(Inclosure)

From "The Boston Transcript":
To the Editor of the "Transcript":
Perhaps I classify as an "economic royalist." I am in the higher brackets of the income tax (79 per cent, plus state income tax), and the death tax (79 per cent). In this tax area it is too expensive to either live or die.

I cannot afford to make money, save it, give it away, or spend it. No matter which way I turn, I am hedged in by an unsurmountable tax barrier. Out of every dollar I receive the government takes 79 cents, leaving me 21 cents, and at death takes 70 per cent of all I accumulate. I cannot afford to take the risk. If I lose, the loss is all mine.

This is a "tax depression" we are in. Reduce the income and death tax rates one-half or more and permit the natural flow of money into private enterprise and the depression is over; continue these rates as at present and the depression is permanent. These rates must not only be reduced but stabilized. No one can afford to make investments subject to income tax rates that may be drastically increased at any session of congress. There must be a ceiling somewhere. Without a limit I have no title to what I earn; my deeds and my bonds become scraps of paper when government takes all my income.

Pump priming as a relief measure has been overestimated. Take my case.

I do not want the government to loan or give me a dime. I am ready to prime my own pump if the government will release the water in my own pool. Government can only prime pumps with the money of citizens like myself. I invested in government bonds at three quarters of 1 per cent interest rate per annum. This interest is tax free and is the only part of my entire income from which the government does not take 79 per cent of every dollar. It should be the policy of government to lower rates and increase volume of business and get more revenue for government; it cannot be done by processes of confiscation.

I am not in the market for investment in private securities at any rate of compensation so long as I am in the present high income tax brackets. The bulk of the nation's working capital is now inactive, lying in the frigid tax zone, which can safely be designated as beginning at the 25 per cent tax rate. Capital freezes at or about that rate. The government gets no revenue from an idle dollar and business is depressed and starved for want of capital.

Not only is it impossible for me to engage in business under the present taxing system, but I can't afford to spend money. As an example, up to a short time ago, I owned a yacht. It cost me about $100,000 per annum to operate it, most of which went, directly or indirectly, for labor. When I paid out a dollar for labor, I paid the government $4 for the privilege. I sold the yacht for $45,000, which was a "junk" price. I divided the proceeds among the employees, most of them having been with me for several years. And I then bade them good by. I can live without a yacht. If I want recreation upon the water I can paddle a canoe. If necessary, I can make a living by plowing with a mule, and I am sure I can make a go of it if the government will give me a bonus not to work.

The rich and the poor are of the same sort of clay. I have worked for 50 cents a day and liked it. I had youth, hope and opportunity. I lived under a flag that guaranteed to me and to every one the right to possess. I can live and work under any form of government that my fellow citizens can live under.

I can move my office from a skyscraper to a tent; use a box for a desk; write my letters by hand and do my own office work if the public demands it and government so desires. But in so doing, I employ no labor and pay little or no taxes.

I have a so-called summer home and give employment to quite a number of people to keep the house, the lawn, the gardens, the flowers and the shrubbery in order. We have automobiles, electric lights and all modern conveniences. This is my pleasure and my recreation. However, I don't have to have it. I can turn the place over to the weeds and the bats, and my wife and I can live in comfort in a two-room apartment without employing labor and pay little taxes. We can do our own cooking and run our own home, use the street car or walk. We started out in life that way and we can finish that way. I am as much at home in a pair of overalls as in a dress suit, and I can lean as heavily upon a shovel as any of my fellow countrymen. If that be the approved American standard of living, I can qualify. If to protest against it is treason to government, or to yearn for better things is offensive to society, then let us all acquiesce and give it a fair trial.

I can only wear one pair of pants at a time, eat only three meals a day, drink Adam's ale and thrive upon it, and when I die I can be buried in a pine box in a government cemetery. If this is what Congress wants, let it be so. I am a law-abiding citizen. Personally, I can see my finish and I bow to the inevitable. I have fought a good fight and have finished my course. The odds are too heavy against me. I am through.

I have been a large employer of capital and labor. I have contributed heavily toward the support of government. I have reared and educated my family. I have aided in the social, moral and intellectual advancement of my day. It has been my pleasure, duty and responsibility to take a citizen's part in promoting the progress of my time and in the advancement of my fellow men. I have never been in the

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Writer)

By "Butch" Murphy, pinch-hitting for Henry McLemore.

NEW YORK, (UP)—My name's Butch Murphy and writing a sports column isn't my business.

I work on a riveting gang. I'm the guy who hangs on the side of a building and catches those red hot chunks of steel. There's nothing too hot for me to handle. This guy McLemore picked Schmeling to knock out Louis and his mail got so hot he couldn't open it. He offered me the job and I thought I had a cinch. Now I ain't so sure. I blistered my thumb on the first one.

Get a load of it. It's from Mrs. Jesse King of the Memorial Apartment Hotel, Nashville, Tennessee.

"You flop-eared, glue-coated apple eater, bath tub soaker and slider in. What are you trying to do now? Your pick of Schmeling proves you are a rattle-brained, goggle-eyed, hammer-headed, buck-toothed, loose-lipped, flop-eared, mush-mouthed, whamper-jawed, pigeon-toed, tight-fisted, knock-kneed, limber-legged, and a sour puss, sir. Awaiting your usual apology through the newspapers . . ."

The next letter I got my hands on was hotter than any rivet I ever saw. It was from George J. Meyers of 103 South 61st, in Philadelphia. Listen:

"McLemore, you're not only a bum, you tramp you, you're a horse thief and a chicken-stealer. Anyone who can't pick fights any better than you do would steal a baby's bottle while it

"red" to society. I belong to that old school of citizens who desire to become an asset to civilization. I now check out. I relinquish it all to government with deep regret and in obedience to the will of my country.

But, I wonder what will become of this nation when the government distributes all that I and my kind possess and prohibits accumulation. Who will pay taxes and who will employ labor when we go from the yacht to the canoe; from the mansion to the hovel; from wealth to poverty?

was nursing, rob a baby's pig bank of all the pennies and then smash the bank on the floor because the baby hadn't saved up any more coins. You not only have elephant ears, but I bet you are squint-eyed, parrot-toed, and have a pub nose. I looked clean through a dictionary for a vile name to call you, but couldn't find anything bad enough, so will just call you a Democrat and let it go at that. Any man who would pick Schmeling the way you did hasn't any more sense than to pour gasoline on the fire while Santa Claus is coming down the chimney. If this letter doesn't make you sore you aren't human, and if you aren't human than I take it all back, because I was taught to be kind to things that weren't human."

That's just a couple of letters to that big egg McLemore which are burning me to a crisp. One guy from Texas sent in a knife, air mail, with instructions for whittling — on the neck. There's a big box here from a guy in Minneapolis that I ain't going to open until I get it home and fill the bathtub. Even fellows in his own business let McLemore have it. A guy named

Arnold Goldberg, sports editor of the Daily News Standard in Uniontown, Pa., told him:

"Your difficulty in picking winners is a Godsend to scribes down this way. The slogan of our readers around this town is—'Bet the opposite way McLemore picks and get rich.'"

A fellow named Ed Burch of Richmond, Va., had what seems to me a good idea. He said why didn't McLemore write two columns before a big scrap and pick a different fighter in each one. Then, when somebody raises the devil about getting a loser McLemore could white back and say "You got hold of the wrong story."

He sure must be a dope, this McLemore. I'd rather catch rivets than all the hell he does.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Buckland, of Ripon, Wiscon, called at this office on Saturday. Their tour of the west included Placerville and El Dorado county since Mr. Buckland's father, German Buckland, was engaged in placer mining in this vicinity in 1861.

ASIA, NORTH AMERICA, HAWAII ONCE LINKED, SCIENTIST AVERS

SAN DIEGO, (U)—The Asiatic and North American mainlands, as well as the now far-flung islands of the Pacific, including Hawaii, may have been linked by a land-bridge in the dim ages past, Dr. C. Skottsberg, Swedish, told the Pacific Division of the American Association for advancement of science.

Mrs. W. C. Barker was down from Motor City on business Monday.

"ROBIN HOOD" TRIUMPH IN THREE-COLOR PICTURES

The current climax of three-color success in motion pictures is provided by the lavish Warner film, "The Adventures of Robin Hood," starring Errol Flynn which is the feature of the Monday and Tuesday show at the Empire. The picture opened Sunday.

The three-color Technicolor process is a complicated one, but splendidly effective.

The primary point to start with, is the fact that every since ray of light is really made up of all colors in the rainbow. Together, all these colors make a ray of white light. Absence of any color at all gives blackness. The Technicolor process for reproducing whatever goes on in front of the camera in actual color, involves splitting apart the beam of light which enters the camera through its lens, and making each part of that ray of light take part of the picture. This involves three films inside the camera, simultaneously taking one-third of the picture each.

Bomb-Proof Library For Welsh Treasures

ABERYSTWYTH, Wales (U)—The national treasures of Wales are to have their air raid shelter before the civilian population.

If the wail of sirens should herald the approach of enemy aircraft or naval units, priceless Welsh manuscripts, including material for a Welsh dictionary, will be hurried from the National Library of Wales, situated on a hill, high above Aberystwyth into a tunnel hollowed in a hill of rock, within a stone's throw of the library terraces.

The local authority has approved the plans for carving out this bomb-proof and shell-proof shelter, which will have a roof composed of 60 feet of solid rock, at a cost of $20,000. Work will start immediately.

There were 427 car loads of spring lettuce shipped from the Delano district, Kern County, this season.

National Guard News

AUBURN—It looked like we had a new Army at the Armory last Tuesday night. The boys' new cotton shirts came and they proceeded to don them and break them in. They look fine and I know they feel fine.

They proceeded to christen them by wearing them out on our hike to the Indian Reservation and back. They didn't look quite so starched and pressed when we returned. The men, for the most part, received their first work out with a full pack on their back and came through with flying colors. They even howled because we marched so slow. That is something. Maybe it won't be long until they are howling because they have to walk so fast.

We have received the Camp Program and as far as we can see it looks fine. In other words it is along the line of our old-time camps that we had so much fun at. There is not going to be any extended maneuvers this year and I know that the boys will appreciate that.

We still can use five more men at the camp training period. We enlisted one last Tuesday—Rance McFarland of Placerville. Rance has a wonderful voice and we look forward to giving him a lot of opportunities to use it in the entertainment line at camp. Any young fellow that would like to go to camp for the two weeks period should get in touch with us at the Armory as soon as possible.

Spotted Fever Study To Be Pressed

HAMILTON, Mont., (U)—Study of Rocky Mountain spotted fever will be facilitated by addition next year of a third unit, costing $25,000, to the U. S. public health service laboratories here. Officials have announced.

Thirty-five years ago the Rocky Mountain wood tick was recognized only as a pest, not as a menace. Today the insect, dermacentor andersoni stiles, is recognized as the carrier of spotted fever, a disease once attributed to polluted water.

game since their May 9 victory over the Roseville Tigers, which left them in second place in the standings. The next week Folsom won, 11 to 7, then the W. & R. nine won 4 to 2; then Auburn took 11 to 9, and Folsom 3 to 2 and Grass Valley 4 to 1.

On the offensive, the feature of Sunday's game from a Placerville point of view, was two home runs in a row in the third inning, by Perron and Reeder.

BERLIN BUILDING IS BEGUN UNDER NAZI DIRECTION

BERLIN, (U)—The "face lifting" of Berlin, one of Fuehrer Adolf Hitler's pet projects, was advanced another step with the start of work on 11 large constructions this month.

The broad outlines of this large-scale plan were announced on the fifth anniversary of the National Socialist rise to power, Jan. 30, 1938. Preparatory work has been under way for some time and the Berliner on his way to work has found his omnibus continually being rerouted because the streets are being widened or repaved. He has been awakened in the middle of the night by explosions, where labor battalions were blasting the foundations from under solidly built old houses. He has been told not to mind the dust and inconvenience attendant upon the work of making Berlin architecturally worthy of its position as the capital of Greater Germany.

The backbone of the gigantic plan is the construction of the east-west and north-south axes. Most of the 11 undertakings just announced center around this project.
